Hail to the Blood of Jesus Christ

Venerable Father Vitale

In order to speed up the sending of some images, since I had no other means available, I am making use of this mail delivery. In regard to the booklets that you mentioned to me, I have already sent them even before receiving your most recent letter, and I hope that they will soon be in your hands.

In the Lord I am also hopeful that the Mission turned out to be most fruitful of the grace of God.

With regard to the canonical erection there of the pious Union of the Divine Blood, here are the regulations:

1. You or the Father pastor must draw up the memorandum to the most reverend bishop of Fossombrone, and he will issue his rescript which will designate the altar etc.

2. The chancellor, then, is to send a letter of procurement to Monsignor Muccioli, bishop of Agatopoli, in which he petitions him to appoint a deputy priest in Rome who will take care of all the other canonical acts for the aggregation in Rome. That paper simply needs to have the seal of the curia and the signature of the one(s) who made the request.

3. Send the bishop's rescript along with the letter of procurement to me and then I shall take care of the rest. This is all that I have to say in reply to your letter. With esteem and respect (my greetings to the Monsignor), and kissing your hands, I remain constantly

Hail to the Divine Blood

Most esteemed lady

For this year, let us do as follows: I shall send Merlini, a very capable Missionary, who along with another Missionary companion, on the final seven solemn days in preparation for the feast, will give a type of Mission. I know that it is not really a Mission; but they will do an excellent work. Arrange housing for them in some pious place, which you judge best. They will be punctual for the appointment, have no doubt about that. If, in addition to the seven days in preparation, you would want to have seven days in thanksgiving after the feastday, I shall have the Missionaries stay on; in that way, the good work will be maximal. Therefore, seven days before the first Sunday in July, they will be there. Send a couple of lines in reply. I will take care of the travel for the two Missionaries; you people take care of providing food and lodging, in keeping with our regulations. Better than this we cannot do for this year. Send your reply quickly, or have someone send an

Dear Father Raffaele

Let me know whether you received the two certificates for aggregators, one for Father Paolo Manzi, pastor of S. Maria in Campo in Spoleto, and the other for Father Gaetano Pasquali, curate in Cutedino. In your letter of response, in case I have to send other certificates, please note down the names of the subjects as above, since I have not saved a copy.

With regard to the alms for Masses, it seems to me that we are all even. I would like to have

⁴ Cf. Additional Biographical Data: Spina

⁵ The Saint's letter, to which this fragment belonged, must have gotten to Fr. Spina either in Cascia, during the Mission there, or perhaps even before that in Pievetorina, or in some other locality where, presumably, he was exercising the ministry.

⁶ Cf. Additional Biographical Data: Spina (troublesome and tempestuous times).

⁷ In what year? Many times the Saint spent the month of June, or part of it, in Rome. We do not count the frequent stays of a day or so when he was in transit between ministries or visits to the Houses. Nevertheless, according to every indication, this letter would belong to 1832: in June of that year the Saint was preaching the Month of the Most Precious Blood in S. Andrea delle Frate; but he had to go for a ministry to Civita Castellana, where he was located on June 13 (being substituted for by someone else during his absence). Upon his return he completed it. The context seems to be in agreement with this fact. In addition, this letter, because of the writing, the paper and the ink, is altogether similar to the one dated: "House (Roma) June 26, 1832", and addressed to the same Nun.

⁸ The year is 1832, because of the preaching done in the prisons of Civita Castellana.

⁹ This communication was placed by St. Gaspar in a letter of Father Giovanni Merlini to Father Giovanni Chiodi, written from Civita Castellana on June 10, 1832. In it, Merlini speaks to him of the work being done on the House and church of S. Antonio and that he will be in Vallecorsa within a short while.

The petition has been consigned to the most reverend Treasurer; but, he told me that he does not know how he can succeed in the concern. I can assure you that I have given it my strongest recommendation, and that is why I asked you for those documents so that I could send them along with the petition, as I have, in fact, done.

I am comforted by the good work being done and especially that the devotion to the Divine Blood is being spread abroad.

Within three days, two of our workers will be arriving in Macerata Feltria, very capable men, to do good work for the glory of God. Being assisted by the two Houses of Rimini and Macerata Feltria, the projects leading to the glory of God will be extended even further, thus meeting the urgencies of our times. Hail to the most Precious Blood of Jesus Christ

Reverend Mother

Here I am sending a reply to your very kind letter. I understand about the holy Missions and I acknowledge that the method used by the Capuchin Fathers differs from ours. So, I do not know whether the Oratory has been revived. Nevertheless, it is you who should urge, insofar as you can, this revival. The same is true about the other pious organizations, in particular, remembering our devotion. But, just why our handling of the ministry in Piperno has been excluded, even though I said that I would take care of the expenses for the Missions, I am not able to understand; even more so since the bishop had contacted us, knowing that we do not become involved anywhere unless it is very clearly the will of God. Taking everything into consideration, in all simplicity, I can only adore the ways of divine providence. I would be truly grateful if the bishop, in the future, would write very carefully of things in order not to give rise to inopportune remarks.

With regard to your soul, continue your development while following the method of de Sales. In the meantime, I advise you to remain calm in God. allow yourself to be led by the Lord down the ways of virtue and let us make progress with alacrity of spirit on the road to perfection.

With reference to your mother, what can I say? You are in a better position to recognize the status of things. In general, I would say: 1. her vocation was not for cloistered life; 2. education can offer your mother an apostolate; 3. she can be the source of example to her family; 4. she should examine to see where she can best enjoy good health; 5. in case of any doubt, I would request an extension of the permission, so as to learn better the will of the Lord.

Pray for me a lot, a lot, a lot, so that I will be able to prepare myself for the eternal years. I am writing while engaged in the ministry; so, this will have to do for now. Send your reply to "Rome". With esteem and respect, I remain

Most esteemed Father Giovanni

I have received Archpriest Grossi's doctrine for which you will give him my thanks; also, the chocolate which has already been put to use in the Institute.

I consigned the wax to Merlini.

What is the name of the President of the association of St. Xavier in Spoleto to whom the images are to be sent? Otherwise, how and to whom are they to be forwarded? Write and let me know. It is difficult for him to go to the post office as President of the association.

As for sending you an image or so, I presently do not have the convenience nor the opportunity. *Non expedit*¹² to hire a coach delivery.

Merlini will be bringing the tin sheeting, so work this out with him. Prepare a room for him as well as for the Brother-in-service. He will be making the visitation of the foundation there, called for by our rule etc.

With regard to Santarelli's baggage and the keys, I know nothing of this up to now. You look into it immediately, as Santarelli is being insistent.

Pray for me. Send me quickly the notification of the Masses. I have already instructed Merlini to check out this account and the alms offered.

Hail to the Divine Blood

You are welcome in all of our Mission Houses. All you have to do is drop me a word or so concerning your clear decision so that I can supply you with the necessary letters. See which House you like best and write and let me know. The Province of Campagna is the most serene, but at the same time it is the most distant. There is the new foundation in Nepi which the good Brandimarte, who handled the Mission in Ancona, is activating. It is on a well-traveled road and is not far from Rome. You figure out what you would like to do.

With regard to the affair of the Institute, and the pious legacy, I trust in your efficacy and industry, because of the suffrages that remain pending. I recognize the condition of our times; but, nevertheless, it seems to me that it would be for more peace of mind to adhere to what I suggest.

I give thanks to God that our great devotion is being spread farther and farther abroad.

Hail to the Blood of J.C.

Esteemed D. Tommaso

I am sending you 20 Masses to be celebrated. Before sending you offerings, I would first like to be certain of your arrival in Pievetorina and then you shall have them immediately.

In Capradosso they had the faculties, which, according to Liguori, a Cardinal Abate can *a iure et ex se*¹⁵ grant. It will be necessary to make an application for other special ones, for the Cardinal himself will have to submit a petition for them.

Have no doubt about it, later on I shall make an effort to get other Masses for you. With reference to the scudo, I have given instructions to Merlini as to the reimbursement. I would like to have a reply from you on this matter. You shall soon collect your pension in instalments, and I shall send it to you by mail, after subtracting something for expenses.

I have provided a copy of Gavanto¹⁶ for that House. I shall send it as soon as possible.

I understand everything else that you bring to my notice. Keep your eyes on the Crucifix: and here are three reminders from S. Giuseppe Calasanzio:

"The servant of God speaks little (speak and write to me)

"The servant of God works hard

"The servant of God bears all" (Useful reminders to the Clergy)

Hail to the Divine Blood

Esteemed Fr. Tommaso

I have sent another letter of mine to Pievetorina from whence they will forward it. In that letter, I sent you 20 Masses to be celebrated.

¹⁵ From the law and of itself.

¹⁶ Gavanto : cf. biographical section.

¹⁷ With superabundant joy.

¹⁸ This letter must be dated June of 1832 and probably in the second half. In fact, in the Book of the Congressi of the House in Giano, under the date of July 4, 1832, it mentions that Meloni, having returned from the Mission in Capradosso on June 8, was in the process of leaving for Pievetorina, for the solution of Moral cases, in keeping with the orders received from the Director General. His departure occurred later than foreseen for reasons which escape us. In the Book of the Congressi of the House in Pievetorina, the presence of Meloni is recorded in the Congressus of July 13, 1832. He was not, however, exempted from the office of solver of Moral cases. During the second half of June, the Saint was located in Rome to preach for the Month of the Divine Blood.

I am repeating that in this letter.

As regards you, here is what I must submit for your consideration.

1) In Rome, I have spoken to the Archbishop of Cammerino. He loves the Institute a lot and is considering transferring it to Cammerino. That is something that will not take place.

2) Crosses ubique locorum.¹⁹ Courage.

3) With regard to the Moral cases, you could schedule the meetings, adhere to brevity and stick to Liguori. That is the method for this year. One or the other additional meetings could be held.

4) I have obtained a Gavanto, the edition by Merati, and I shall send it as soon as possible. It seems to me that I sent a copy of Layman; you already have Liguori. If necessary, I shall send a copy of Reinfestuel who is also an accredited author.²⁰

5) Tell me whether God inspires you to go along with my wishes. By serving the Society in this manner, you are relieved of the Missions. Please do me this favor. If this should cause you anxiety, write to me immediately, so that I can make other arrangements, but, you shall remain there. I would like you to be amenable to these humble reflections of mine. Send me an answer, and in the meantime, do not leave. Write to me in the earliest postal service.

The scudo that you have received was for the one that you gave to Brother Francesco.

I shall send the Mass offerings along with the pension, as soon as I collect it. I shall write to Fr. Alderisio in the next ordinary delivery. I kiss your hands, and with all the usual affection and esteem, I am

P. S. In reference to preaching in the church of Pievetorina, you shall not preach much for now, to offer them a variation of preachers. Rather, you will preach to the retreatants and in particular to the priests. Your work is more useful to me now in Pievetorina because of the recent transferral of our men, due to the establishment of the new foundation.

²⁰ Cf. Gasparian History and Trivia: Textbooks

²¹ In the date, the year is deduced with certainty from the Libro dei Congressi of Giano, where, under the date July 4, 1832, it mentions that by order of the Director General, Fr. Tomasso Meloni was about to depart at the time for Pievetorina in order to assist with the solving of Moral cases. Furthermore, this present letter jibes perfectly, in all the elements of its context, with Letter n. 308 (June 1832) and n. 309 (July 3, 1832) which are indeed from the same period of that year, 1832.

Hail to the Divine Blood

Most esteemed Camillo

I wrote to you about the cloth or the material. Let me know whether it is coming or not. With that delivery, please send along four reams of stationery; the small sheets similar to the one on which I am writing. Another ream of paper for memoranda, two more of the "carta palomba" for letter-writing as usual; and one more, for packaging, of the sturdier type of paper.

Ordinarily, with permission, the bishops are provided with faculties dealing with the papal enclosure. So, give me your daughter's name, her age and where the monastery of S. Lucia is. Also, the reason why she wishes to enter and for what period of time. All of these items are to be provided.

I am writing in a hurry. In Rome, the devotion to the Divine Blood is being very widely propagated. I am full of an endless number of obligations to you.

In reply to your most appreciated letter, here is what I must indicate to you with reference to the Retreats for the nuns as well as the extraordinary visit. In Macerata Feltria, Father Nicola Santarelli could conduct them. I shall ask him to get in touch with your most illustrious and reverend lordship. For the evening of the 10th of this current July, send the two mounts to Rimini and one of our members will be coming there to the venerable monastery of S. Antonio. After Pennabilli, he will move on to S. Agata. For the evening of the 18th of July the monastery of San Marino will send two mounts to Rimini to pick up the other Missionary for the Retreats; then this one, after San Marino, will move on to Monte Cerignone. My companions have already been given this pertinent information by me. You will please look into anything more that may be needed. I kiss your hands and, asking you for your prayers, I am and will constantly be, with total reverence and esteem

I beg you to move on to Pievetorina, and help out in the good work being done by that House. also, get yourself ready for the Moral cases. Figure out how they are to be divided and how to supply hoc anno.²⁴

Let me know whether the Gavanto has arrived in Pievetorina, etc., for you will then place it in the library, writing inside: "Mission House, etc." In a hurry, begging you for your prayers, I am

Hail to the Divine Blood

Most esteemed Father Giovanni

I received the notification of the 45 Masses. As for the offerings, I have given the responsibility to Merlini.

Father Amici, if I am not mistaken, is leaving for Ascoli to be in charge of the monastery of S. Angelo.

With regard to the accounts, work them out with Merlini. I am speaking of what has taken place. As for the rest, keep in very close touch with me for I am one who is not at all in favor of amassing debts. In other words, anyone who orders something should pay for it. Now, unexpectedly, I had to give Santarelli 10 scudi because of his dealings in Vallecorsa. Please note this matter in the ledger; concerning this situation, I had no knowledge. This was an altogether new method of doing things. You make your own judgment.

As for other matters, I have written to him that he should figure things out there with regard to administration with the ones to whom I have granted credit, Palombi and Cardillo, in whatever way he can, and as Merlini knows best how to manage, as well as De Mattias etc. Otherwise this will never come to an end. Our Institute does not have the wherewithal for construction costs. Cogita de fundamento.²⁵ We manage according to our resources as well as by keeping in contact with me in anything that deals with the future.

Whether you are to remain there permanently, I cannot say. I can see the probability of your returning to Albano, perhaps. I cannot now come to a decision. So, with regard to your baggage, do not make any moves until further notice. Surely by the feast of the Assumption, you will have a decisive answer as to whether you will remain there, and, if one particular thing pans out, you will remain there without further ado. So, in the meantime, count on staying there and have them send whatever you need from Albano.

There is the burden of the cases there, etc. I have gotten Santarelli's baggage and they will be arriving soon.

It will be necessary to collect from the Milizia heirs etc.

With reference to your possessions in Albano, work things out with Father Camillo Rossi. You will not have to write to the bishop of Ascoli. Nothing more is to be done in that diocese.

Let me know whether I have forgotten anything. Pray for me who remains

Our very excellent Brother Nicodemo will be coming, and you will place him in one of the vacant rooms in the Missionary wing of the building, but in the area that is usually occupied by the Brothers. Please see to it that he is lacking nothing and encourage him. The position to which he is assigned is that of the kitchen, for Br. Franco must return as cook to S. Felice in Giano. As soon as you notice that Nicodemo no longer needs the direction of Franco, for the latter must assist and instruct the newcomer for a sufficient number of days, then, without further notice, send the aforementioned Franco to Giano, informing me that he has departed.

For the glory of the Lord bear the inconveniences that I cause you. Help me there in every way, and according to the rule.

For a short while, at least, and as long as you can handle the situation, please, you will be entrusted with handling the Moral cases. You think about how to arrange and divide up the groups, ²⁶ The year is 1832. (Cfr. the letter of June 21, 1832 to this same person).

²⁷ At this point the Saint had added: "Vice Superiore nella Casa di Mis'e e Sp'i Es'i". Then, he crossed out those words. It seems that Meloni had been given that position in the House at Giano. Hail to the Divine Blood

Venerable Camillo

I hope to have the grant for your daughter one of these days, and I will send it to you immediately. Such permissions are not that easily obtained. I repeat, however, that I am hoping to get it.

Up to now, nothing has been received of what you were pleased to mention. Still, I am hopeful that everything will be arriving. In the meantime, in two packages or packets you will be getting your reimbursement in accordance with the account here listed as well as in keeping with your two letters.²⁸

From the first letter: for linen cloth - 20 canne	13:20
For salamis, at 20 baiocchi the lb. - 30i/2 lbs	06:10
One ream of Vaseto stationery	01:20
One ream of paper for memoranda	01:60
One ream of Palomba	02:00
For packages	01:50
For wrappings for the salamis	00:00
	total 25:66
amount on hand	96
amount to be paid	24:97
amount for cloth	04:69
total scudi	30:31

Finally, I ask you for 1000 copies of the Chaplet, printed as usual; however, only half of them as usual, and the other half should present the usual Chaplet but preceded by the strophe: "Mentre il Prezioso Sangue" just like the printed sheet which is enclosed here, designated with the n. i. Then, the first mystery is to be printed as in the booklet of the Chaplet. Between the first mystery and the second, the strophe to be sung, corresponding to the Meditation in the first mystery. In this way, in each mystery there will be a Meditation and a hymn that is pertinent, as indicated on the sheet labeled n. 1. (I repeat, the mystery is to be done as in the booklet of the Chaplet).

²⁸ The writing in this account is that of Luigia Del Bufalo.

After the Chaplet, the song of praise indicated in the small booklet printed in Spoleto n. 2 is to be inserted (look toward the end) It begins: "Su lieti cantiamo". After that, the "Viva viva Gesu" is to be printed just as in the booklet of the Chaplet.

Then, the Offering of the Heart is to be printed as on page n. 4. Next, the other Prayer of Offering as on page n. 4. Next the small page n. 6. , followed by the short page n. 7.

The headings to be added to the pages for verbal variety, I leave to the sagacity of Mr. Possenti. The main thing to look for is exactness. Likewise, try to maintain the greatest possible thrift in all of this, as Mr. Possenti, most beloved in the Lord, is wont to observe. I repeat, 500 of the old form and 500 of the new edition. But, now that I think of it a second time, let the complete 1000 be of the new arrangement which I hope God will bless abundantly. At the end of this new edition, add the "Eterno Padre io vi offro etc.", the brief ejaculatory prayer which has an indulgence of 100 days, just as it occurs in the Chaplet book. In order that I can keep my books in order, let me know the cost. In general, see that the 1000 newly edited copies are done as I have just indicated above. The frontispiece should have the following: "Coroncina delle Adorazioni dei misterj del Preziosissimo Sangue di Gesu Cristo ed altre devote preci per uso delle Case di Missioni e Spirituali Esercizi erette sotto tale augustissimo titolo del Divin Sangue". All of this will not, however, prevent in its time the reprinting there of the old-style booklet.

With regard to the opposition offered to you by your relatives, as you describe it to me in your second last letter, you should meditate on what has been suggested to others with reference to vocations. The gifts which the Lord has granted to you for the ministry are those that are realized in that ministry itself. Give whatever comfort you can to your relatives, keep in contact with the most worthy Archpriest Grossi and by utilizing all of the appropriate means available see that you do not abandon the doing of good work, as you continue to cooperate in another. Now, with reference to your most recent letter, I say, in all sincerity, that you should apply yourself to an even more profound examination of yourself.

The question you have with regard to quis videretur esse major,²⁹ the problem is solved by Jesus Christ. I add nothing further. But, if I wanted to propose arguments, I would be able, with the grace of God, to produce them and as many as would be needed to convince you, whom I esteem and love greatly in the Lord. You would discover that in your recent letter, you may have made more misjudgments. For example, relative to dealing with nuns, you were new at it and so was Gentilucci. For me, it was a matter of indifference whether you or the other went; likewise, in telling the Superior that you both, for your instruction in common, should read whatever was pressing, I believe, was not out of order. Whenever God may summon our workers to the holy Mission in Concerviano, this good work will be able to be begun immediately after the feast of St. Francis Xavier, since during its preceding Novena we shall all be making our Retreat and be turning our attention in a particular way to our own selves. The Mission could be arranged to precede the feast of all Saints, or during the octave of all Souls etc. and thus have the Mission come before the aforementioned Novena. With the Lord's illumination, you make your decision. Esteemed Fr. Pietro

I am sending a reply to your most appreciated letter. I have tried to make provisions for the House in Pievetorina. Assiduous prayer will be the principal support for all of our Houses.

In regard to your state of dejection, note what follows.

At times one's inclination is helpful to the ministry; at other times, it is necessary (in connection with the spirit, I say with De Sales) to scale the Lord's mystical mountain. Preaching is a duty enjoined upon us from the time of our Diaconate. It is true that it is quite a different matter to fulfill it in actuality. However, in that execution we must make the effort to do so with a true spirit of zeal. If a helmsman, in maneuvering his ship in contrary winds, gets more merit for his efforts, what will happen to you? A sin that is prevented, a soul that is improved, what a great good for the glory of God! The results show that God is with you, for he grants you even the gift of evoking compunction. What you will say will be just right. Let this be for your comfort.

The Lord wishes three things from you: 1) the selection or confirmation of a spiritual director in whom you will place blind obedience; 2) the spirit of trust, often repeating: fiducialiter agam;³⁶ 3) the spirit of prayer and humility, in addition to study etc. These things, even though one may already possess them, we must try to acquire to a greater degree. So, make the effort and you will go forward. Some day you will thank me.

The meeting with the foreign Missionary was very pleasant.³⁷ How admirable is the Lord!

In regard to Antonio's trip, I have written to Fr. Fontana and told him clearly that it should be paid for by Rimini, according to the rule. I have enough to look after. To balance the accounts, send him Mass stipends, if you have some extra ones. Come to an agreement between yourselves.

The Lord has indeed disposed things well; the Retreat time remains set for this upcoming November. At the proper time, I will inform you about the coach arrangements. Shortly after the Retreat in Sora, our Retreat, called for by our rule, will begin, requiring us to withdraw to our Houses. So I would say that you should indicate to me the number of Missionaries that I should bring with me to Sora. While I am attending to the Retreat for the Sacconi, I will assign the other men to the Mission in S. Donato etc etc. So, if that Mission can be scheduled in October, in preparation for the feast of all Saints, then I could tell whether I would be able to manage to give first the Mission in S. Donato and then the Retreat in Sora. But with regard to S. Donato and anything else that may be needed, I assure you of very capable workers; I shall get involved personally only if conditions allow. As for the Sacconi, we are all set.

I shall be awaiting your clarifications and specifications. I kiss your hands, and, while asking you for your prayers, I am and will constantly be, with esteem and respect, ³⁶ I shall act with confidence.

³⁸ These words, lacking the customary complimentary beginning as well as the closing signature, were written on the inside of a sheet which served as the covering around other letters or documents etc. In fact, the address is on the other side of the sheet and not on the fourth siding as was the usual procedure. When did St. Gaspar write these words? In comparison with the letters to Possenti of the 11th and 24th of July, 1832, of the 16th of August and the 16th of September of 1832, it appears that this writing should be assigned to a time between the end of July and the beginning of August 1832. Probably wrapped within this outer covering were the soldi that he mentions in his letter to this same individual dated July 11, 1832. Or, it covered the rescript which St. Gaspar mentions in his letter to this man dated July 24, 1832. (Cfr. also the letter of August 16, 1832). For these reasons, we assign it to July 1832.

³⁹ This letter is not dated. It left from Rome, as is seen from the postal marking. With great probability, it should be assigned to May-July, 1832 when Father Chiodi was in Vallecorsa.

Very reverend Mother

In reply to what you suggested in your recent letter, I must advise you of three things.

First, that the selection for that diocese of the man of whom you speak to me would be an excellent one. I would regret losing him as a companion in the ministry; but, the glory of the Lord renders everything pleasant.

Second, precisely because he is my companion, it is not within my competency to propose him.

Third, I do not have the means for proposing him. In the time of Monsignor Manassi, please note, I was charged to find a subject; so, I was interrogated; furthermore...the most reverend auditor⁴¹ was an intimate acquaintance of mine and hence I was able to have access in the handling of this great good. Presently, I do not have the good fortune of recognizing him, not even by sight. Indeed, I maintain the policy of taking care of whatever God clearly wishes of me, and to respond to those things once I am asked. God wishes to have order and this is what I seek to adhere to. So, you go ahead and act and work things out as you feel the Lord is directing you. I shall not fail to pray for this matter.

I have contacted his Eminence Odescalchi for the rescript for the feast of St. Xavier. If I manage to get it, you will have it immediately. Always address your letters to me in Rome, for now I shall be leaving for a Mission. If you think it is a good idea, see that Cardinal dal Marchese Longhi is reminded of the matter. It would be well if, on that occasion, a Missionary were to offer a bit of encouragement there. In that case, write to me in Sermoneta where I am going for a Mission.

⁴⁰ First, he had begun writing "Roma" but then wrote "Sermoneta". The postal marking "Velletri" confirms that this letter was not sent from Rome.

Venerable Luigi

While in the act of the ministry, a couple of lines. Note that the present Cardinal Mattei (formerly the General Treasurer) before being promoted, told me clearly that he could not go along with my efforts in your behalf. Thus, what you write to me is the source of anguish for me, realizing the incapability that I feel in not being able to offer my help to you. I repeat, if I had the means of offering my help, I would surely do so. However, in this matter, I have not been able to succeed in my intent. Let us place our trust in God who is the Father of all, and let us repose in his adorable Heart where I am and will constantly be

Hail to the most Precious Blood of Jesus Christ

Most esteemed Father Raffaelle

With regret did I learn of the quite sorrowful situation of which you gave me details. I have no doubt that you, with an industrious charity, have made every possible effort to prevent the happening. So, now let us not cease praying and have others do so too so that everything will return to good order, aided by the abundance of divine mercy, and trying to conceal etc.

After the completion of the second extraordinary visit in S. Agata, you will return to Rimini. I am quite sure that you have learned the regulations for monasteries, and in this regard, I feel at ease. Once you have completed the ministry, and wishing to have my advice, do not take up correspondence with anyone with regard to your soul. As a matter of practice, keeping in mind what I myself have learned from excellent teachers, you will gradually become formed for the ministry, while giving evermore prominence to the glory of God. In time, we will say more.

You will conduct the Retreat, called for by our rule, for the Community in Rimini this coming November, adhering to the directory. You will also preach the Lenten series in Pievetorina. Finally, after a day or so of rest in Rimini, in keeping with our regulations and our ministry, you will conduct a Retreat for a certain Community or Conservatory whose title I cannot now recall; it will be made known to you by our companions.

Pray for me a lot; I will do the same for you, with the desire for that eternal union in Paradise. Do not fail to always keep in your remembrances the good Majorano⁴² who has died. With esteem and respect, I remain

P.S. For your reply or any necessary correspondence, address them to "Rome".

While Silvestri was passing through Rome, on his way to Pievetorina, he asked me for a cincture from Rimini which I gave him. Let me know whether this has been entered into my accounts.

Per multas tribulationes oportet nos intrare, etc.,⁴³ but, *cum ipso sum in tribulatione, etc.*⁴⁴ Hence, courage in the sufferings encountered there. *Omne gaudium existimate fratres, etc.*⁴⁵

In reference to Sig. Morelli, it is morally impossible, as far as I can see, that he could give the animal, etc. Therefore, we should be thinking about ways and means, et cum facultatibus,⁴⁶ of doing so and of freeing ourselves of him. You keep on looking into the situation.

Your observations in regard to the Cases are most justifiable. I hope that in lumine videant lumen.⁴⁷

The receipt is all in order.

I am sending you another 30 Masses, to be celebrated throughout all of September with the assistance of another Companion, if that should be required by you.

I never cease recommending to your charity the observance of the rule, for, even though for you some practices could admit epikeia, still, in the nature of the Institute, for very just reasons, we must adhere to what our regulations require: ne exemplum infirret ipsam observantiam. Et ideo dicit apostolus: "Omnia honeste et secundum ordinem fiant".⁴⁸

Let us be courageous in our holy ministry. Its urgency is becoming more and more manifest.

⁴³ It behooves us to enter the kingdom of God through many tribulations.

⁴⁴ I am with him in tribulation.

⁴⁵ Brothers, consider everything a joy.

⁴⁶ And with faculties.

⁴⁷ In light may they see the light.

⁴⁸ Let no example weaken observance itself. And there fore the Apostle says: Let all things be done honorably and in order.

Hail to the Blood of Jesus Christ

Here is my response to your letter.

1. With regard to the prayer called for by the rule, it is a very good thing to fulfill it.
2. With regard to recreation in common, I observe that the spirit of the rule is directed toward the promotion of charity; in general, I do not see why so many small observances are going into disuse.
3. With regard to the attraction, this is a working of God to which it will be necessary for you to prudently abandon yourself. Let me know later how the thing develops so that we can better recognize the ways of the Lord.
4. In times of sickness, generally speaking, abandonment to God, especially at that time, is very much indicated, unless the Lord is directing your soul in some other way. Then, too, it is a good idea to assist our human make-up with that remedy which is not repugnant, but rather is in harmony with the will of the Lord.
5. As for your headaches, let me know how you are progressing, and whether this distress continues as usual. If so, how helpful it is to make an offering of it to Jesus.
6. Your greatest suffering lies in your imagination. There is where the devil seeks to stir up a storm. Be courageous; your heart is right with God.
7. See that your sacramental confession is kept simple, otherwise it will cause the imagination to do tricks and a firmer hold on peace will be retarded.
8. Rely firmly on those words: "credo remissionem peccatorum"⁴⁹ and be at peace. Say often: "spiritu principali confirma me".⁵⁰
9. As for the locale for prayers, try to select the one that is most suitable for you. In this regard, de Sales has some beautiful writings. Taking a solitary walk could produce an aspiration for God that is quite fruitful etc.
10. In your activities, proceed with simplicity and avoid so many subtleties. Again, in this regard, one is to strive for a virtuous conquest over the imagination which continues to germinate, may I use that expression, the most minute reflections. In each and every thing, we should try to do our best. but, at the same time, we should say: "adiuda me et salvus ero".⁵¹
11. Finally, pray for me and have others do so too. Serve God with cheer; have trust in his ⁴⁹ I believe in the remission of sins.

⁵⁰ With a principal spirit strengthen me.

⁵¹ Help me and I shall be saved.

mercy: "fiducialiter agam et non timebo".⁵²

12. With regard to the devotional materials, either the case will be able to get to Rome in time for the feast of the Assumption, and you will send it; or it may not be able to get to Rome, and you will send it to Sermoneta, as soon as you learn that I have arrived there for the holy Mission.⁵³ May Jesus be our love, and, in his adorable Heart, I am and will constantly be

Hail to the Divine Blood

Venerable Canon

You, I think, are quite convinced that in this valley of tears there is only suffering. The world is like a hospital; we all have our ailments. Charity, prayer, suffering are the scales of our sanctification.

It is a thing of longstanding that in Pievetorina the devil agitates and upsets things in a special way. I have learned this from a number of external cases. Because of the extensiveness of the projects in our Society, I lack the time to carry out each and every visitation personally. This year, that will be handled in Pievetorina by Father Beniamino Romani who will then remain, along with the others, in our House there. Pray for me and have others do so too. While urging you to zealously look after our organizations there, I am and will constantly be, in Jesus Christ crucified

When I returned from the Sacred Ministry, I received one of your most precious letters with immense consolation for it assured me of your health and of the good which you intend to promote through your Ecclesiastical and Civil History of that City and Diocese, a work, surely, of no little exertion and one of utility for all the interests of divine glory.

⁵² I shall act with confidence and shall not be afraid.

⁵³ This letter does not have a date. From the reference to the Mission in Sermoneta, which was conducted in August of 1832, the year must be 1832. From the reference to the feast of the Assumption, this letter must have been written at some time during the first half of August, and probably from Frosinone. Cfr. also the letter of September 8, 1832 to this same addressee.

⁵⁴ There is no signature.

With this present mail delivery I am sending Mr. Quartaroli's donation of money, in the amount of 11 Roman Scudi, salvo equivoco,⁵⁵ to Father Giovannelli. Whether half of that is to be used for Masses depends on the number of the offerings which he intends to stipulate. Please be kind enough to ask Mr. Quartaroli about it, so that it will be fulfilled exactly according to his wishes. I shall await an answer on this matter in your charity. Check also the time that is agreed upon for the celebration thereof. If it is acceptable, I would like to have a certain reasonable leeway in time, since this is a question of Masses of devotion. Likewise, I would like to have it arranged that they could be said ubique et a quocumque.⁵⁶

With the two hundred copies, I will surely be able to build up devotion to my dear Saint, the great Xavier. Please give him at least a small tribute (whenever you can) by making a pocket-book summary of his Life, a size that is suggested in the thoughts you expressed to me. Such a compendium is read very easily by anyone at all. Again, let it be written in such a way that even a Nun, for example, could read it.

Take care of yourself; greetings to all who remember me. Also, make every effort to extend our devotion and our Pious Works more and more, besides continuing your ministry of the Holy Missions. I kiss your hand; and I am with the fullness of esteem and respect

P. S. I shall await the printed copies of the Fridays. The money will be sent to you by Father Giovannelli.

Having returned from a few Missions, I now inconvenience you with this most humble letter of mine. The purpose of it is to ask you to collect 11 scudi from the post office. They are to go to Canon Palma of Teramo who will then see that they are sent on to Mr. Quartaroli for some printed materials. Try to arrange a safe occasion without cost. Please excuse this inconvenience. Pray for me. With esteem and respect, I remain

Esteemed Fr. Pietro

Whenever the arrangements which I have made affect your state of health, I would say that, as a matter of exception and not of policy, you and Santarelli should divide the work of the Mission as you wish.⁵⁷

Likewise, if God so inspires you, continue to open up your heart to me, so that I can lend you a bit of help. You have, however, your own Spiritual Director and do not have need at all of my instructions. Still, in case, here I am *pro viribus*⁵⁸ and in my own wretchedness, ready at any word from you.

I am sending you and Santarelli, if he needs them, 20 Masses to be celebrated within the month of September, with the usual notification thereof. I shall promptly send the offerings as soon as I have that notification.

Finally, it will be to your greatest merit that you continue to work among thorns. A helmsman, who steers a ship through violent storms, deserves more of a reward than the one who handles his ship in calm weather. You understand me.
